
A high-speed train, likely a TGV, is shown at a station platform. The train is white with a prominent red horizontal stripe. The name 'Hildesheim' is printed in black on the side of the train, accompanied by a small crest logo. The train's windows reflect the station's architecture and the sky. A door with a circular window is visible on the right side of the train. The platform is paved with light-colored tiles.

 Hildesheim

Tz 185 in Frankfurt/M Hbf

Stephan Albrecht