A high-speed train, likely a TGV, is shown in a station. The train is white with a red stripe along the bottom. The name 'Rheinsberg' is printed in large black letters on the side, accompanied by a small red shield-shaped logo. A large rectangular window is visible, reflecting the station's interior lights. To the right, a door with an oval window is partially visible.

 Rheinsberg

Tz 201 in München Hbf

Stephan Albrecht